

Risk Disclosure

For the purpose of this risk disclosure, “you” means customers or netizens who accessing this website.

By using Ever-Long Investment Strategy’s (“ELIS”, “we” or “our”) services or adopt our strategy for trading, you agree to the following risk disclosure.

1. Undocumented risks

Please note that NOT all risks are noted here. You are solely responsible for doing your own, independent research into specific assets, products, and services regarding to your risks. In addition, you are expected to be familiar with the risk associated with your investment.

2. Not an investment fund

Nothing on our website, software application (if any), social media, or other related services should be considered investment. ELIS is not an investment fund, investment manager or licensed broker. You are solely responsible for all actions taken on the platform, any investments made, and sole bearer of profits and loss. Historical strategic performances do not guarantee future returns. Our strategists periodically make changes to your strategies that affect performance without prior notice.

3. Volatility of underlying assets

Underlying assets represent a speculative investment and involve a high degree of risk. You should conduct extensive research into the legitimacy of each individual asset before investing.

4. We do not hold custody of your assets and will not be responsible for third-party risks

ELIS does NOT provide custody or have control of your assets or currencies on or within the broker/exchange/trading platform they use. We always recommend you engage with SFC licensed broker and SFC authorised custodian for trading and asset safekeeping respectively. ELIS may select third-party broker/integrated exchange/trading platform according to current securities trading practices and your needs. However, the systems and methodologies of the broker/exchange/platforms utilized by them may be subject to exposure from hacking, malware and general security threats. ELIS or its managing members are not liable for the failure or attacks of the security system of the third-party service providers.

5. Failure of order completion

ELIS hold no liability for any losses or complications resulting from the failure of implementing an investment strategy due to actual market conditions at the time of order execution or your communication failure with your service providers. Therefore, it is advised that you should ensure to maintain an effective communication channel(s) and connectivity with your trading brokers/exchange/platform and maintain available currency balances at all times.

6. Illiquidity

Underlying assets may be illiquid at times or continue to be illiquid. ELIS team is not liable for the inability to post orders or other functions with respect to illiquidity of an asset. The illiquidity of certain positions you may hold and the liquidation values of these positions may differ significantly from the interim valuations of related investments executed by the broker to the results of final execution.

7. Past performance

Past performance is no guarantee of future results. Actual results may vary depending on the timing and frequency of your transactions made. Return on investment may not meet our/ your expectations due to a variety of economic, market and other factors.

All figures and amounts stated in the website are for illustration purposes only and shall not bind us.

Any quotations, comments, analysis, estimates, forecasts, opinions or other similar information provided in this website/communication or otherwise, represents our judgment based on certain assumptions and parameters as of the date indicated. Therefore, they may be subject to change without notice and we give no warranty as to its accuracy, completeness or reliability.